

HOUSE VOTES CRACK-DOWN ON OPA

NO POLITICAL JOBS WANTED
BY WAR HEROEISENHOWER SAYS
HE ASPIRES TO BE CIVILIAN

Abilene, Kas., June 22 (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower tonight brought "the very greatest moment in my whole life"—his homecoming—to an official close in a press conference in which he denied with the utmost vigor that he had any idea of going into politics, and stated that when he takes off his uniform it will be to return to civilian life.

"Look" he said in response to a question about whether he might become secretary of state, "I'm in the federal service and I take the orders of my commander in chief. All I want is to be a citizen of the United States, and when the war department turns me out to pasture that's all I want to be."

"I want nothing else."

"I'm a soldier and I'm positive no one thinks of me as a politician."

Rest, Then Europe

Eisenhower said he would spend the weekend here with his family, then return to Washington Monday for a conference with Secretary of War Stimson.

"Right after that I'm going on a short rest, and I'm not going to tell anyone where I am going. I'm just going to rest. Believe me, I've been through a lot."

Eisenhower told the large press conference that early in July he expected to be back in Europe, to assume his two-way job, administering control of American forces there, and sitting on the control commission that will be the government of Germany.

Eisenhower, limping from a wrenching right knee he suffered in a fall, received a tumultuous hero's welcome from his old home town today but with characteristic modesty told his proud and cheering neighbors "I'm not a hero."

"I'm only a symbol of the heroism of America," he said in a brief talk that climaxed this one-time cattle town's uproarious and heart-warming celebration for its famous soldier son.

"It was my great honor to command three million American men and women in Europe. All couldn't come home at once, so this celebration is for them that have returned and those that will—and those that won't."

Abilene, a town of 6,000, was crisscrossed with visitors for its celebration which featured a parade depicting Eisenhower's life here as a boy. The general laughed loudly at one float showing him carrying a cow.

No More Isolationism
His biggest thrill came from a float carrying the Abilene High school football team of 1909 on which he played. Ten men who played with him were on the float.

Even Boss Of OPA
Feels Meat Pinch

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Price Administrator Chester Bowles has heard from his own family how serious the meat shortage is.

He told a group of Virginia cattlemen at a conference today that he is "a sort of backyard farmer, with about 300 chickens, three hogs and a cow."

Whenever the cow has had a calf in the past, he said, his children have made a pet of it, giving it a name and celebrating its birthday.

"Not so long ago," Bowles said, "the cow had a calf, and a week or so later, my young daughter said, 'how long before we can eat it, daddy?'"

Nippon's Industrial Areas Hit By 3,000
Tons Of B29 Bombs

Guam, Saturday, June 23. (AP)—Hundreds of American Superforts blasted a huge Japanese naval arsenal and five aircraft factories in daylight yesterday with 3,000 tons of demolition bombs, expanding the destruction already spread over more than 112 square miles of Nippon's industrial areas in previous B-29 raids.

In Washington the 20th air force headquarters announced that four planes were missing. Japanese air opposition was ineffective over all the targets, the communiqué said, but added that flak varied from moderate to intense.

The naval arsenal at Kure, last big plant of its type not previously hit in B-29 visits to Japan, was struck in visual bombing from medium altitude. The arsenal covered around 11,000,000 square feet and turns out heavy guns, projectiles, fuses and torpedoes.

Aircraft factory targets were the Mitsubishi and Kawasaki plants at Kakamigahara, 20 miles north of Nagoya; the Kawanishi establishment at Himeji; and the Kawasaki factory at Akashi, both near Kobe, and the Mitsubishi-Mishima plant at Tamashima, 90 miles east of Kobe.

Twenty-first bomber command headquarters said B-29 fire raids on seven small Japanese industrial communities Monday and Tuesday

WAR CRIMINAL
TRIALS PUSHEDProsecution Before End
Of Summer Promised
By Justice Jackson

BY ALEX SINGLETON

London, June 22. (AP)—Germany's arch war criminals and their terror-atrocities organizations may be prosecuted "before the end of summer" in an unprecedented collective trial on a blanket charge of provoking and waging an illegal war, Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson announced today.

The chief prosecutor of war crimes for the United States declared the American plan for fastening guilt upon the Nazis in a single trial before a four-power military tribunal would "clear up the whole thing at once."

The sage, sharp-eyed former attorney general emphasized that he could speak only for the United States. But he said in response to a press conference question that none of the other three major western powers had yet expressed opposition to the plan.

Jackson said the United States was advocating trial by a military tribunal on which each of the four major powers would be represented by "one or two judges," who would decide the degree of punishment to be meted out to those convicted.

Under the broad American plan, a number of ranking Nazis—men such as Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop—and organizations such as the Gestapo and the SS, presumably would be brought to trial collectively.

Hoodlums In Hooper
Murder Case Named
For Armed Robbery

Pontiac, Mich., June 22 (AP)—Four Detroit men charged with robbery armed were bound over for circuit court trial today following their examination before Judge Frank L. Doty.

Bond for the four, three of whom are awaiting trial in Calhoun county June 9 on a charge of conspiracy to murder the late State Senator Warren G. Hooper, was set at $300,000 each.

The defendants, accused of the holdup last Dec. 1 of a gambling house here, are Harry Fleisher and Mike Selik, former members of Detroit's Purple Gang, Sammy Chivas, a former boxer, and Pete Mahoney.

Fleisher, Selik and Mahoney along with Fleisher's brother, Sam, are defendants in the Hooper murder conspiracy case. Hooper, a key witness in the Judge Leland W. Carr one-man grand jury investigation of state legislative corruption, was shot to death in his automobile last Jan. 11.

Dispute Between AFL And CIO Still Deadlocked

Detroit, June 22. (AP)—A deadlock in the dispute between AFL and CIO over reconversion jobs in the automobile industry continued yesterday. A strike of 145 AFL skilled workers continued to tie up reconversion work at three Chrysler Corp. plants.

Some 20,900 Packard employees were idle because of a walkout yesterday by 1,000 maintenance men, members of the Maintenance, Construction and Powerhouse Workers Council (CIO) who sought to enforce their demand that no AFL workers be used on reconversion while CIO manpower was available. A strike of 145 AFL skilled workers continued to tie up reconversion work at three Chrysler Corp. plants.

More than 15,000 other workers were idle in disputes not connected with the reconversion question. These included 7,500 workers at the Briggs Manufacturing company's Conner avenue plant who stayed away from work today and tonight protesting the meatless sandwiches provided by a catering firm. The Conner employees threatened to march to Office of Price Administration offices here Saturday morning to demand relief from food shortages.

On Borneo, conquest of the Seria-Miri-oil fields was set up by an Australian landing at Lutong, on the western coast of the island.

Lutong, a refinery and storage tank area with pipe lines extending to the sea for loading tankers, has an air field.

Retreat Blocked

A gap of only 35 miles, at last reports, separated the Buckeye Division and Col. Russell W. Volckmann's irregulars who seized the provincial capital, thus blocking the enemy's line of retreat.

Along the west bank of the Cagayan river, on the enemy's west flank, other guerrilla forces were ready to check any attempt to cross the stream and seek refuge in the mountains.

At the southern end of the archipelago, on Mindanao, Yank infantrymen made important gains along the Talamo trail west of Davao gulf. They smashed into the village of Gumalang, on the northeast flank of Mt. Maunoy, and drove into little Baguio town after several days of hard fighting.

JAPS BOTTLED

SEIZE APARRIONLY ESCAPE PORT FROM LUZON IS CUT OFF

Manila, Saturday, June 23 (AP)—Aparri, northern Luzon port at the mouth of the Cagayan valley, has been captured by elements of the Sixth army reinforced by Filipino guerrillas, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

This bottles up the large Japanese forces still in the Cagayan valley to the southward and seals the enemy's only escape port from Luzon.

MacArthur's communiqué said that American and guerrilla forces were spreading out rapidly southward.

Guerrillas previously had captured the Cagayan province capital of Tuguegarao, 65 miles south of Aparri, while the U. S. 37th Division took Ilagan, 35 miles farther south.

The 37th now has advanced five miles north from Ilagan, taking the town of San Juan, MacArthur announced.

Twenty-three Japanese tanks were destroyed in the 37th Division advance, the communiqué added.

The guerrillas at Tuguegarao meanwhile repulsed an enemy counter-attack.

Two Drowned In Indian
Lake As Boat Capsizes

Manistique, June 22. (AP)—Miss Catherine Bennis, New Elm street, Manistique, and Wilbur Huggins, an employee of the Manistique Tool and Die company, were drowned in Indian Lake Thursday night.

The tragedy occurred about 9:30 in the evening while the two, in company with John Schultz, North Cedar street, were fishing about a quarter of a mile off shore from the Ken Seidel cottage on the northeast shore of the lake.

About that time Seidel and William Winston, at the Seidel cottage heard faint cries for help and hurried to the rescue. They found Schultz clinging to the overturned boat, badly exhausted. He was taken ashore, authorities were notified and the search for the bodies began, the sheriff, members of the conservation department and the state police joining in the effort.

The body of Miss Bennis was found 8 o'clock the next morning. It had washed ashore. Operations of the crews dragging the lake in search for Huggins' body were hampered by waves whipped up by the strong south wind.

According to Schultz the party was fishing in the vicinity of the tragedy and had just about decided to head for shore, as a stiff breeze was blowing and the waves were high. Their portable motor had started to sputter and in trying to adjust it, the boat got out of control and got broadside of the waves. It was then that the boat capsized.

All three wore raincoats and Schultz said that the last glimpse of the two revealed them trying to get out of these garments. He managed to get rid of his coat and cling to the craft, but said that he could not have hung on much longer as he was becoming numb in the cold water.

The Body of Miss Bennis is at the Kefauver and Jackson funeral home. By a strange quirk of fate, her brother lost his life by drowning about a year ago.

Catherine Bennis was born on Sept. 19, 1913, in Manistique, and had lived there all her life.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bennis, and Henrietta, Margaret, Joan, John and Gerald Bennis, all of whom reside at home.

Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock Monday morning at St. Francis de Sales Catholic church with the Rev. F. J. P. Schevers officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

PEACE CHARTER
ACTION SPEEDEDSenate Must Ratify By Two-Thirds Vote Of
96 Legislators

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
San Francisco, June 22. (AP)—The United States and Britain gave assurances today of the earliest possible action on a charter of Nations organization formally takes over the task of enforcing a peace.

Experts gave the charter a final polishing as the San Francisco conference coasted toward the finish line. President Truman will address the concluding session Tuesday.

Britain's chief delegate, Lord Halifax, predicted early ratification by his government of a charter which he said represents "a really great historic advance."

The British elections, he told a news conference, will leave unchanged "the main line of British policy both in respect to the conduct of the Pacific war and to the work which we have done here."

United States delegates expressed confidence the senate would approve the charter. Two senators who served as vice chairmen of the delegation at the Golden Gate, Tom Connally (D-Tex.) and Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.), will report to the senate next Thursday and Friday.

Thirty-three senators could keep the world organization from coming into existence. The charter must be ratified by all the big powers—the United States, Russia, Britain, China and France—and by 23 of the 45 other signatories. Senate ratification must be accomplished by a two-thirds vote of the 96 legislators.

Czechs Seize Over

Weed Out Traitors

BY ALVIN J. STEINKOFF
Prague, June 22 (AP)—The Czechoslovak government today seized more than 270,000 farms and corporations in the possession of Germans, Hungarians and "traitors and Nazi collaborationists."

The farms, occupied mainly by Germans in the Sudeten area, are estimated to embrace 6,240,000 acres. The confiscation is expected to involve 1,500,000 of the country's population.

Signed by President Eduard Benes and all members of the government the decree was the first step in eliminating influences which led to betrayal of the nation in 1938.

TRUMAN TAKES
VACATION TOURTalk At San Francisco
Security Conference
Scheduled Tuesday

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO
Olympia, Wash., June 22 (AP)—President Truman abandoned himself today to the enjoyment of his vacation.

He and his staff and Gov. Mon C. Wallgren piled into automobiles for a trip to Mt. Rainier to view the snow-capped peaks and walk about in the bracing Pacific northwest air.

Shortly before the departure, a member of the president's staff told reporters that Mr. Truman does not contemplate the establishment of a food dictator in the program looking to unified control over food production, distribution and pricing.

He expects Clinton P. Anderson, to bring about closer relationship between agencies dealing with all aspects of food and meat handling when he takes over as agriculture secretary and war food administrator.

Departure Monday for San Francisco where he will address the closing session of the post-war security conference at 4 p. m. (Pacific War Time) Tuesday.

He will stop over in Portland, Ore., at 11 a. m. Monday on his flight to San Francisco, touring the city by automobile.

Government-Seized
Anthracite Mines
Go Back To Owners

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Anthracite mines seized when strikes threatened production were returned by the government to private ownership today.

The properties, 354 Pennsylvania mining companies and two mines producing Virginia anthracite, had been under control of the Solid Fuels Administration.

Since the seizure, a new wage contract for the miners has been approved.

In turning back the properties, Solid Fuels Administrator Ickes asked the miners and operators to boost production to recoup "every possible ton of the more than 3,500,000 tons of output estimated to have been lost due to strikes in May."

Because of strikes and the manpower shortages in the mines, Ickes said, the production of anthracite suitable for domestic use may fall as much as 12,000,000 tons under requirements for the 1945-46 fuel year.

Chinese Slashing
Way Into Liuchow,
Railway Hub City

BY SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, June 22 (AP)—Chinese troops, attacking in five columns, pounded tonight upon the rail city of Liuchow and its airfield, and the Chinese high command said one force had broken into the south railroad station.

Unconfirmed reports reaching Maj.-Gen. Robert B. McClure's headquarters at Kunming said the hub city was burning, that the airfield was wrecked and that Liuchow was so closely invested its fall might be only a matter of hours. It lies 400 miles southwest of Chungking.

Chinese troops had attacked the airbase on the city's southern outskirts—abandoned by the U. S. 14th Air Force last November—inflicting heavy casualties on the defenders.

FEUD ON FOOD
IS STIRRED UP
BY SHORTAGESBILL WOULD STRIP
AGENCY OF POWER TO FIX PRICES

BY FRANCIS M. LEMAY
Washington, June 22. (AP)—In a bitter uprising against meat, sugar and other shortages, the house voted 145 to 142 today to strip the OPA of jurisdiction over food pricing and to place this responsibility in the agricultural department.

With many Democrats absent, Republicans pressed through a broadened version of a recommendation by Herbert Hoover for "an administrative revolution" to solve the meat "famine."

The action, taken by teller vote, is subject to a later roll call vote.

Black Markets Rapped
Under the food amendment, offered by Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio), chairman of the house Republican food study committee, the OPA would retain control over details of food rationing but lose all other authority over the nation's larders.

Rep. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), who becomes agriculture secretary July 1, voted against the transfer of authority from OPA to his own hands. He told the house he would "not run from any responsibility but I don't want to be a policeman."

DAGGETT BOY IS TRAIN VICTIM

David Voelker, 8, Killed Yesterday When "400" Strikes Him

David Voelker, eight-year-old son of Merton Voelker of Daggett and Mrs. William Blodeau of Milwaukee, was killed at 9:12 a. m. yesterday morning when he was struck by the southbound North Western passenger train "400" in the village of Daggett.

The body of the boy was thrown 63 feet. Death was caused by a broken neck, head injuries and other hurts.

Coroner Roy Cadieu of Menominee empaneled a coroner's jury following an investigation of the accident, but Menominee County Prosecuting Attorney Michael J. Anuta said that the death was accidental and that he did not believe an inquest would be held.

Arthur Lesperance, Daggett merchant, witnessed the accident. He tried to warn the boy of the approaching train, but said the boy continued to walk toward the tracks with his head down, looking at a toy gun he carried in his hands.

The warning wig-wag signal was operating, and the bell and whistle of the train were sounding. Ralph R. Finley of Escanaba was conductor on the train.

The boy was born Dec. 31, 1936, at Goodwin, Wis., and had lived in Daggett two years, where his father has a service station. Surviving besides the parents are five brothers, Merton and Ernest Wallace, Walter and Martin of Daggett, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Voelker.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday with Rev. J. Melvin Hedlin officiating. Burial will be in the Stephenson cemetery.

New Penicillin Compound Found

Washington—Just as sulfanilamide, the sulfa drug, was joined by a considerable family of chemical cousins within a few years of its original discovery, so now we may expect related extracts from earth-dwelling molds to join penicillin, the first widely publicized and used germ-stopper of that origin. One such compound, known as actinomycin, together with a method for extracting it, is the subject of two new U. S. patents just issued here, and assigned to Merck and Company, Inc., a pharmaceutical firm very active in the production of penicillin.

The first patent, on the mold chemical itself, is No. 2,378,876, taken out by Prof. Selman A. Waksman of Rutgers University and Dr. Harold B. Woodruff, scientist in Merck's employ. Actinomycin, as they describe it, is a red substance left after a mold known as Actinomyces antibioticus has been subjected to ether extraction and the extract then evaporated. It can be chemically separated into two fractions, designated respectively as A and B. Actinomycin A is stated to be especially powerful in its action against certain microorganisms.

The second patent, No. 2,378,449, was granted to another Merck employee, Dr. Max Tishler, and covers as improved method for extracting Actinomycin A.

Geiger Appointed Field Commander Of Marine Forces

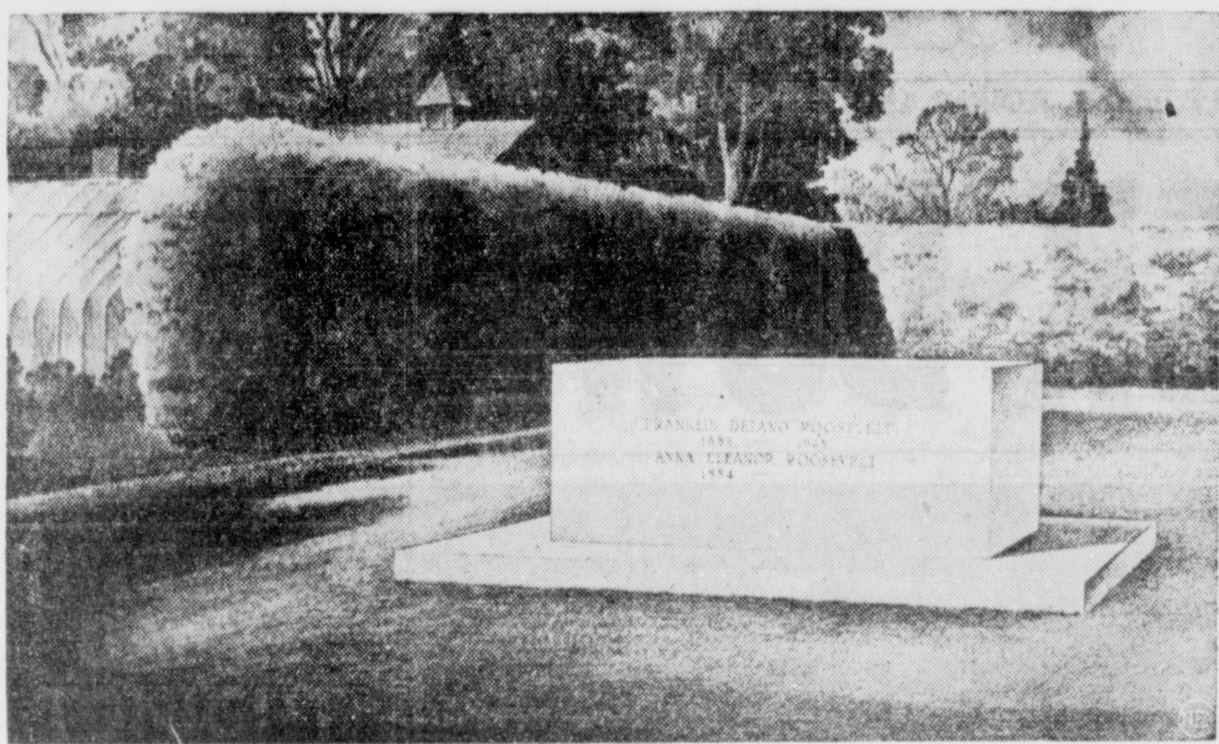

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Roy Stanley Geiger, who has been taking islands away from the Japanese ever since Bougainville, was named today as the Marine Corps' chief field commander.

As commanding general of the Pacific fleet marine force he succeeds the colorful Lt. Gen. Holland M. "Howlin' Mad" Smith, the man who evolved many of the marines' theories on amphibious operations and then proved his teachings against the Pacific enemy. General Smith takes over the marine training and replacement command at San Diego, Calif.

General Geiger, who was appointed to his three-star rank only three days ago, presently is overall commander of army and marine forces in the cleanup on Okinawa. He succeeded to that command this week when a Japanese shell killed the army's Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, his senior in the operation.

Clean Furnace Now To Conserve Next Winter On Coal

By EPSIE KINARD NEA Staff Writer

Now that your heating plant is inactive, clean it up, and you will be able to get more heat from next winter's fuel supplies, which experts figure lose as much as 10 per cent heat when burned in a dingy boiler or furnace.

Warned that domestic heating fuels are going to be scarcer than ever, and that dealers who ordinarily fix your furnace up for you may now lack the manpower to do it, the anthracite industries urge you to clean up your plant. Here is the five-step procedure:

Remove Deposits

1. Rid flueways of the fly ash—fine silvery red powder—and greasy soot or tar deposited by fuels by opening the cleanout door above the firing door, and using a metal flue brush and long-handled wire scraper. Whisking these tools, which usually come with the heating plant, pull deposits through cleanout door or push down opening at back of flueway into firepot, where they can drop through grates to ashpit.

2. Brush chimney fluepipe clean of ash dust or soot. Removing fluepipe first makes your job easier. But if it's nailed down, burn a handful of rock salt on a brick fire—using either the last furnace blaze of this season or the first in the fall for this ritual—which will lower the ignition point of the soot and burn it out of the chimney.

Check Leaks

3. Examine the pipe for rusted or broken places. Order a new pipe now if it's needed, as delivery may be slow.

4. Examine the boiler or furnace carefully for leaks. It is easier to do when the fire is burning. A lighted candle passed around doors and joinings makes a good sleuthing aid, because flame will be drawn inward by the natural draft of the fire at the spot where there is a leak.

5. Caulk any leak you track down on chimney pipe with a dab of furnace cement or asbestos cement, but be sure to leave pipe loose enough to remove.

Q. What are Class D and N allotments?

A. Class D allotments cover premiums on U. S. government life insurance (World War I) and Class N allotments cover premiums on national service life insurance (World War II).

Q. My husband is a Staff Sergeant and receives a monetary allowance in lieu of quarters for dependents. I expect a baby next month. Would I be eligible for an increased amount by reason of the baby?

A. No, not as long as your husband receives the monetary allowance, $22 would be deducted from his service pay. Should he do this, it would be to his advantage since the family allowance to you and the child would be $80, whereas now you receive only $37.50 plus any voluntary allotment he may desire to make.

Q. If a veteran is eligible for 24 months' training, may he use 9 months to complete his high-school course and the remaining 15 months in the pursuit of some trade?

A. Yes. It would be necessary for the veteran to obtain a new certificate of entitlement following the completion of high-school course for the remaining period of training to which he is entitled, in order that he may present it to the institution in which he is to receive the further training.

Q. Someone stated that there are no "basket cases" in the Army. What is a "basket case"?

A. It is a term used to describe a person who has completely lost both arms and legs. There are six amputees in the army who have lost three extremities and there is

Q. How long has Kate Smith broadcast on a coast-to-coast network?

A. Miss Smith started coast-to-coast broadcasts in April, 1931.

Q. What is the standard weight for a bushel of hickory nuts?

A. Fifty pounds.

Q. Are cocktails more intoxicating than highballs?

A. The American Medical Association says that the same amount of alcohol, diluted to the same extent, has the same effect whether it consists of a mixture of a straight drink diluted. A cocktail may not only represent a higher alcohol content than the single beverage, but the consumer may drink more when he mixes his drinks, without realizing the fact.

Q. Should fresh crab meat be washed before using?

A. No, because it would lower the food value and flatten its flavor.

Hope Seen For End Of Truckers Strike

Chicago, June 22 (AP)—Governments and union officials expressed hope tonight for an early termination of the week-old strike of Drivers on 1,700 seized truck lines.

There is a definite trend on the part of the strikers toward returning to work," Ellis T. Longenecker, Office of Defense Transportation manager of the lines, said at his daily press conference.

At the same time, he said, transportation was improving as each day passed because army drivers were becoming better acquainted with the Chicago area and their routes.

Louis Pike, business agent of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters Local, said 75 per cent of the local's 6,000 members were back on the job and all cartage barns in the city would have some trucks rolling tonight.

NAVY'S SCOUT PLANE IS FAST

Seahawk Can Fly Higher And Farther Than Previous Models

Washington—Launched into active combat from battleship and cruiser catapults recently for the first time is the Navy's new observation-scout airplane that is reported to be twice as fast, and can fly higher and farther than any previous Navy models.

Designated the SC, "Seahawk" this new scouting airplane has a single float, and low wing construction, plus nearly three times the horsepower of the OS2U "Kingfisher," the plane used up to now for such work.

The fundamental jobs of the SC are to scout for enemy fleet units to spot gunfire both in sea actions and in the shelling of enemy shore batteries during landing operations, and to act as an air-sea rescue plane. While the Seahawk is fitted to carry only the pilot, a hook can be arranged back of the pilot seat into which one man may crawl.

Observation-scout planes are usually considered easy targets for the enemy. With its greatly increased speed and maneuverability, plus added fire power and its ability to carry bombs and depth charges in the float, the SC introduces into warfare a formidable weapon for use against the enemy in an emergency.

Both airplane and engine are designed and built by the Curtiss-Wright Corporation. The SC uses the newest air-cooled airplane engine in production, the Cyclone 9, which is reported to generate more power per pound weight than any other engine for aircraft in the world. The new engine generates more than 1,200 horsepower, greater than the horsepower of the engine used on the B-17 Flying Fortress, producing more than one horsepower for every pound of weight.

According to P. B. Taylor, vice-president of Wright Aeronautical the new engine has the power of more than 25 automobiles, power enough to generate current to operate the Empire State Building and more power than most heavy duty tugboats.

The Seahawk is equipped with a four-blade hollow-steel propeller that has an unusually wide blade, designed to provide the tremendous thrust necessary to the airplane's fast rate of climb, and cruising efficiency at high altitude. The propeller looks more like a canoe paddle than a conventional propeller.

Abdication Of King Leopold Predicted As Maneuvers Fail

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Brussels, Belgium, June 22 (AP)—A trusted source close to the Belgian government said tonight that King Leopold's political maneuvers apparently had failed and that his abdication was likely within a few days.

This informant said Leopold's last hope of forming a government was Ganshof Van Der Mersch, chief military prosecutor of Nazi collaborators, to whom the king had offered the Belgian premiership.

Van Der Mersch was said to have gone to Salzburg, Austria, where the king is staying, to give his answer. He was said to hold the view that Leopold must renounce his throne for Belgium's best interests.

The threat of a general strike by left-wing parties opposed to Leopold's return still hung over the political drama being enacted both in Austria, where the monarch was reported conferring with Belgium's parliamentary leaders, and in this capital.

Two Polish Groups Agree In Moscow

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, June 22 (AP)—An Allied commission announced tonight that rival Polish factions have reached an accord on a plan for the reorganization of the Polish government and that the plan has the approval of Russia, the United States and Great Britain.

A statement by Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark-Kerr and U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman—authorized by the Crimean conference to settle the problem—announced the agreement, reached by three groups of Poles at conferences here.

but his old position—left tackle—was left vacant. His former coach, Orrin Snider, rode on the float. "Hi boys," the general yelled through cupped hands as the team passed.

In serious vein he called for solid support for President Truman.

"President Truman's hands must be upheld at all times by the knowledge that back of him are a united people ready to do his bidding."

As he did yesterday at Kansas City he struck at isolationism.

"We are not isolationists. Intelligent people cannot be isolationists. We are part of the world, and the world is part of us. Through national organization we cooperate with each other and it is through that cooperation and cooperation with nations of the world that we hope to preserve peace and make sure there are no more wars."

In the reviewing stand with the general were three of his four living brothers together with his wife and his son, Lt. John Eisenhower, and other relatives. The fourth brother, Edgar, was on the football field.

RAW MILK CAN BE DETECTED

Dairy Experts Develop Method For Finding
It In Cheese

Washington—A practical method for readily determining whether the milk used in making Cheddar cheese was pasteurized has just been developed by dairy experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The addition of as little as 0.1 per cent of raw milk to properly pasteurized milk, or a decrease of two degrees in the pasteurizing temperature for 30 minutes, can be detected by this new, improved test, a modification of the phosphatase test commonly used in testing milk for adequate pasteurization.

Although laws in various parts of the United States restrict the sale of raw milk for drinking, only a few states such as California, Illinois, Indiana and New York require that all cheese sold be made wholly from pasteurized milk, or that the cheese be cured for a definite period of time prior to its sale. Outbreaks of various diseases such as typhoid fever and undulant fever have been attributed to the consumption of cheese made from unpasteurized milk and cured for only short periods of time.

The new method for detecting the use of unpasteurized milk products in cheese was developed by Dr. George Sanders and Oscar S. Sager of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, and is based on the fact that the enzyme phosphatase, present in raw milk, is destroyed when milk is satisfactorily pasteurized.

In the test disodium phenyl phosphate is added to the cheese to be tested. If any phosphatase is present, it splits this organic phosphate, liberating phenol in proportion to the amount of phosphatase activity present. A reagent is added which, reacting with the phenol, develops a rich blue indophenol color. A scale of standard colors, prepared with known amounts of phenol, is used to measure the amount of phenol liberated, and thus the test shows the amount of unpasteurized milk product present or the extent of underpasteurization of the milk used.

More than 340 samples of Cheddar cheese, for which records of the treatment given the milk were available, were tested by this method. All samples of cheese made from raw milk or underpasteurized milk were detected, regardless of the age of the cheese.

CAPT. WM. A. BUCKBEE

PROMOTED TO CAPTAIN—Among the recent promotions in Gen. Patton's 3rd Army was that of 1st Lt. Wm. A. Buckbee to a captaincy. Captain Buckbee entered the army in June 1942 and in September was sent to O. S. C. at Ft. Sill, Okla., where he completed a year of training in Jan. 1943 and was commissioned as second lieutenant in field artillery. He was retained at Ft. Sill as an instructor in surveying and trigonometry until April 1944. In December 1943 he was promoted to first lieutenant. In April 1944 he was transferred to Camp Chaffee and attached to the 743 F. A. Bn. as Assistant S-3.

In Dec. 1944 he landed in England and at LeHavre, France in April, crossing the Rhine at Mainz with Patton's Army and ending at Passau on the Danube on V-E Day.

During the 3rd Army advance across Germany Capt. Buckbee often acted as "spotter" for the American artillery. This type of observation work to locate enemy targets and to direct the fire on same calls for very low altitude flying back of the German lines and while his plane was a number of times riddled with small arms fire he escaped with out a single wound. For his gallant action at Chemnitz he was recommended for the Bronze Star.

He is now in command on Headquarter's Battery at Auerbach, Germany. Captain Buckbee is the son of Cheever Buckbee of Escanaba.

Manpower Control Will Be Retained In U. P. Counties

Present manpower controls in the Upper Peninsula will continue after July 1 and until current shortages for workers in essential war industries are alleviated, it was stated yesterday by A. J. Gzovoda, area director for the War Manpower Commission in the Peninsula.

This decision was reached after consultation with the War Manpower Commission management labor committee at a meeting in Marquette Tuesday evening.

"We are currently experiencing, through the Upper Peninsula, a demand for 3,710 workers in logging, lumbering, copper mining, wood distillation, iron mining, wood products manufacturing, lime quarrying, leather processing, veneer and plywood mills, which represents the minimum demands of employers to meet current war production schedules," Mr. Gzovoda said.

"In spite of all the recent publicity regarding cut-backs in war production in the industrial areas, very few workers have migrated to the Peninsula seeking work. The change from a two-front to a one-front war had very little effect on the overall demands being made of our industries in this area."

With the retention of present manpower controls, it will still be necessary for employers not having gate hiring privileges to clear all persons seeking employment through local U. S. Employment Service offices. All persons appearing at employment offices will be exposed to job opportunities in the order of their importance to the war effort.

The logging and lumbering industry is permitted to continue its present program whereby any individual now employed in that industry and having a permanent identification card can change jobs within the industry without prior clearance through the USES office. Any new entrant into the logging and lumbering industry must be cleared through his USES office before he can be hired.

NEW DISEASE KILLS RABBITS

U. S. Fish And Wildlife Service To Study
Malady

Washington—Rabbit-raising, looked to hopefully by many persons as one ready means for relieving the meat shortage, is beset with its own difficulties, one of the most troublesome of which is a killing disease known to professional rabbit-raisers as "bloat" to veterinarians as enteritis. The cause is still unknown, all attempts to reproduce it experimentally have failed, and there is no known cure.

To deal with this profit-debilitating situation, the Fish and Wildlife Service, U. S. Department of the Interior, has undertaken a research campaign which will be carried on at a special experiment station at Fontana, Calif., under the direction of Dr. Everett E. Lund. He will also study other rabbit troubles, especially lung and skin diseases.

Dr. Lund has already had considerable experience with rabbits. While a member of the biology faculty at Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y., from 1937 to 1944, he raised them on a semi-commercial

On "Hara Kiri" Mesa, Okinawa (AP)—Members of the 383rd Infantry's Second Battalion Medical Section believe the Japanese were "hopped up" for some of their wild antics as they were driven from this Mesa, including grotesque suicides which gave the place its battle name.

The "medics" had very little opportunity to examine the Japanese before death, because so few were caught still alive. But two that were treated for wounds were "filled" with narcotic, said Lt. Harry Hartmann of Cairo, Ill., forward station chief.

Pfc. Hewey J. Smith of McEwen, Tenn., medical corpsman, declared "these prisoners undoubtedly had received hypos of dope while the Americans were assaulting the twin peak of Yuzatomui." Hartmann nodded assent and added:

"The pupils of their eyes showed they had sufficient to stimulate them to the point of fanatical courage. They also displayed other evidence of being under the influence of narcotic."

The Forward Aid Station was only 300 yards behind the front lines at the time and afforded an excellent opportunity to view the Japanese tactics on Twin Peak, for which a ten-day battle was fought.

American assault troops finally reached the base of the peak's escarpment—a 120-foot perpendicular coral cliff rising from the three-dotted hill slopes.

The 383rd regiment's third battalion tossed ropes over fingers of coral jutting from the face of the cliff and attempted to climb up hand over hand. From some place in the cliff, a hidden Japanese machinegun opened up. Snipers also were hidden in trees. They shot the Yanks in the backs. Nipponese on top of the cliff hurled boulders and poured down blazing fluids.

Artillery opened up and American guns battered the escarpment for days, finally clearing the way for the infantry to gain the top. Then a bitter hand-to-hand battle took place.

The Japanese fought so fanatically that the Yanks had to hunt them down, root them out and kill them individually.

Casualties treated at this station indicated the ferocity of the fighting. And thirteen of the section's medical corpsmen were wounded

The Japanese infiltrated every night and the night of June 16, 12 were killed within a few yards of where blood plasma was being administered to American wounded.

But members of the section declared that tough as the escarpment fighting was, the earlier battle for Kakazu Ridge was tougher.

"There," said Smith, "the Japs were on a high ridge from which they had our boys under cross-fire. Our boys were averaging 75 casualties a day and we were losing lots of medics. At one time we were down to six litter bearers."

DELIVER MAIL BY PARACHUTE

Small Towns Expected To Get Service In Near Future

Washington—Airmail delivery by parachute to thousands of small towns in the United States is a probability of the near future. Tests just made here at the National Airport demonstrate that it can be successfully carried out, using a special conveyor to eject the mailbag and a special parachute to land it safely on the ground. The demonstration was by the Pennsylvania-Central Airlines and the Switlik Parachute company.

The airline company perfected the method by which mail sacks, equipped with parachutes, can be efficiently and accurately dropped from low-flying transport planes. In the demonstration a plane flew at 130 miles an hour about 200 feet over the airport and ejected groups of sacks and parcels through a new door by means of a conveyor designed by company engineers. Opened by a static line, the parachutes fell free for a few feet, billowed and dropped slowly, all landing within a short distance of each other.

Each parachute is packed in its own canvas bag, with the open-end flap closed by snap button fasteners. The parachute sack is attached to and remains with the mail bags as they are ejected from the conveyor and the plane when the pilot trips a trigger. A static line, with one end attached to the apex of the parachute canopy, withdraws the canopy as the load falls away. The line breaks, the canopy inflates, and the cargo descends slowly to the ground.

Okinawa is Won

THE Okinawa campaign has come to an end, with American military forces firmly entrenched on a strategic island only 325 miles from Japan itself. It has been a costly campaign, 45,000 casualties, including dead, missing and wounded from the attacking ground and naval forces of the United States, but its cost will be redeemed many times over in events yet to come.

No single campaign of the Pacific war, even including the glorious capture of the Philippines, is more important in bringing the war home to Japan than the capture of Okinawa. Now we are firmly astride the vital lines of communication from Japan's home islands to China, to Formosa, and to the Jap-wrested wealth of the South Pacific.

It will require time to develop Okinawa to its greatest ultimate value, but some dividends can be reaped immediately as Okinawa airfields are already in use by American aircraft. Okinawa can be a springboard for an attack aimed either at Japan, China or Formosa. Where the next big blow will fall is a well guarded secret, but there is no doubt that Okinawa will play a big part in that attack, wherever it is aimed.

The appointment of Gen. Joseph Stilwell to command of the Tenth Army, conquerors of Okinawa, is further evidence that big things are taking shape in the Far East. Gen. Stilwell is a master strategist of war in the Orient and an army commander who has a personal score to settle with the Japanese.

Japan proper and territory occupied by Japan will be scoured by fire and explosives from bombing raids, but further ground invasions against the Japanese are almost certain to develop. Gen. Stilwell, who knows the Japs thoroughly, believes the Nips will have to be conquered on the China mainland as well as the islands of Japan proper, before the war in the East can be brought to an end.

Franco's Spain Hit

THE United Nations conference, in an action aimed directly at Spain, has decreed that any government set up with the aid of the Axis will be denied future membership in the world organization sought at San Francisco.

In short, Spain must throw out its dictator, Generalissimo Franco, and establish a democratic form of government before it will be admitted into the family of free, peace-loving nations.

Dictator Franco is reported to have been indicted by the rebuff from San Francisco. He complains that Spain is much misunderstood, and contends the only dictatorship that ever existed was "the dictatorship by the proletariat" which was abolished by the civil war he fomented.

The democratic nations have a different view of the matter, however. It is all clear now that the Spanish civil war was a handy testing ground for the planes and other military equipment of the Nazis and Fascists. If there had been timely intervention in Spain to suppress the Franco revolt, it is quite possible that the Axis would not have passed World War II.

But that is all history now. The best way to rectify the error is some kind of concerted action to show Franco and other Fascists they cannot get away with it. While Franco remains in power, the people of Spain will not be able to throw off the yoke of dictatorship. The action taken at San Francisco is a good start toward the discrediting of the Franco regime. It is to be hoped, however, that the Franco snub will be more effective than were the sanctions imposed upon Mussolini when he embarked upon his ill-fated adventure into Ethiopia.

The Spanish people must be given the right to hold a free election and choose the kind of government they want. Whether they win this right will probably require more outside assistance than the mere adoption of a resolution at San Francisco.

Flying Farmers

WE don't know how all this is going to affect Old Paint, or what it may do in time to the ten-gallon hat and high-heeled boot industry, but it appears that the postwar cowhand may be heading for the big roundup in a neat little cabin plane.

At least that's the impression we get from reading a piece in the trade magazine, Implement & Tractor, which comes right out and says, "The airplane is farm equipment." And to prove that it's the farmer's idea and not the magazine's, the article quotes a recent survey by a manufacturer which indicates that rural America will provide the postwar market for 60 per cent of his factory's light personal planes.

That doesn't mean, of course, that a man won't be able to farm 50 acres of hilly Vermont land without an airplane in the days to come. But the article makes out a pretty good case for the practical use of aircraft in the western and midwestern territories of flat terrain and big farms. In fact, the airplane is being used by some farmers already.

There is an organization called the Oklahoma Flying Farmers, for instance. And its president is quoted as saying that if he had to choose between his airplane and his car, he's afraid the car would have to go.

Here are some of the things Implement & Tractor thinks a postwar farmer can do with a $1000-or-so plane. He might sow crops and dust them, ride herds and inspect fences, take produce to market, get needed repair parts for other implements in a hurry, take the kids to school when roads are impassable (a dirty trick on the kids, we say), or just go to town for shopping and a movie on Saturday.

Any level field or pasture would do for a landing strip, the magazine says, and you could taxi right up to the hay barn, which would serve nicely as a hangar. As for the farmer's learning to fly, it appears that the postwar personal plane is going to be so nearly stall-, spin- and fool-proof that you would have to fly it smack into the silo in order to wreck it.

We haven't quite dared pursue the possibilities of their ultimate effect on the colorful West, but we can see that the effect would be felt far beyond the actual business of farming and ranching. For one thing, it would revolutionize the rodeo business. We'd probably have stunt flying instead of bronco riding, with steers being bulldozed by a deft slap of a tail skid.

The Crime of War

THE United States has taken the lead in correcting one of the staggering contradictions of modern history. Through its chief counsel for the prosecution of Axis war criminals, Justice Robert H. Jackson, this government is now on record as stating that aggressive war is a crime.

Throughout the civilized world, the planning and execution of individual murder is punishable by death. But in some parts of the civilized world, the planners and executors of the mass murder which is aggressive war have been honored as heroes by their countrymen and sometimes given the highest position that those countrymen could bestow.

International law has encouraged this adulation during the last century by admitting no difference between aggressive and defensive war. Nations have condemned war as an instrument of policy. But they have not seen fit to brand the aggressor's tactics for what they actually are: murder, kidnapping, piracy, rape, arson, burglary, assault.

Now the United States has declared, through its chief counsel in the matter, that not only is aggressive war a crime, but that the creators and prosecutors of aggressive war are criminals who must stand trial for their lives.

It is far past time that this was said, but it is well that it has been said at last. This declaration, concurred in by other nations, can become a part of international law which, as Justice Jackson points out, is the result of agreements, customs and decisions, not legislation.

So there is no need to fear a lack of precedent. Neither is there need to fear that this declaration will conflict with the United Nations organization. Rather it should add another bulwark to the defense of peace.

Having to make an income tax payment is no real reason for lagging on War Bond buying—not if you know the meaning of the word sacrifice.

Less and less meat means the strict vegetarian can eat as much of it as he did before—and just about as much as the rest of us.

Congress is about to go home—and get away from a lot of bills. We go home and run into 'em.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

LET'S GET IT STRAIGHT

(Scrapbook Item)

Writers and broadcasters, p-l-e-a-s-e—"An historical" has reached the epidemic stage, despite the fact that it violates a cardinal rule of English, and is foreign to standard American usage. On this side of the Atlantic "an historical" is pure affectation, and nothing more.

The rule for A and AN is: Use A before words beginning with a consonant sound, as: a man, a horse, a history.

Use AN before words beginning with a vowel sound, as: an eagle, an enemy, an honor (the "h" is silent).

"An historical" is an archaic usage that dates from the Anglo-Saxon, in which there was only one form of the indefinite article: "an," the Anglo-Saxon word for "one," which was used before all words regardless of the initial sound.

Thoughtless use of "an historical" by journalists and broadcasters has already led to widespread confusion. For example: A secretary reports her boss insists on the correctness of this dictated phrase: "An Hackley school pin."

A reader reports seeing this line in a poem: "An heavenly light shown through."

The newscaster on "Time Views the News" said of a certain government official: "He is an high school crony of President Truman's."

It's enough to give a person "an headache."

Nevertheless, following today's article, the Colby. You're Wrong! is well boom: "You should know that 'an' is correct before words beginning with 'h' and which have a second-syllable accent; That's the rule I was taught."

But there is no such rule. If there were, it would be correct to say "an harmonica, an hydraulic pump, an hyena," which of course is nonsensical—even the "an-historical-philes" wouldn't carry the pomposity to that ridiculous extreme.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The muddle of our German policy—or lack of policy—is such that it is sometimes hard to see how any sense can ever be made of it.

The latest complication grows out of the effort to determine the extent to which German labor unions can be revived, and whether political leadership can be expected from trade unionists and social democrats in Germany.

The desire to explore the "non-Communist left" to use a state department phrase, in order to find groups untainted with either Communism or Nazism.

To help carry out this policy, American trade unionists have been sent to Germany to work with Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, who has been named top American officer in the zone in Germany to be occupied by our troops. Chief laborite selected thus far is Joseph B. Keenan, secretary of the AFL council in Chicago.

—WORKED WITH BYRNES—

The reason for Keenan's selection is fairly obvious. As a vice-chairman of the War Manpower Commission, he worked closely with Clay when the latter was deputy to War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes. He sided frequently with Clay in controversies in which the CIO was in opposition.

But whether Keenan is equipped for the delicate assignment he presumably is to carry out is quite another matter. A building trades unionist of the old school, he knows little about Germany or the European labor movement.

Word came to Phil Murray of the CIO that Keenan was recruiting only AFL executives to go to Germany, and he promptly went to see Maj. Gen. J. H. Hildring, chief civil affairs officer, to protest. Hildring informed Murray that he had offered a position similar to Keenan's to one of Murray's closest associates, Clinton Golden of the CIO Steelworkers Union.

The two were to serve together as a sort of joint department of labor under Clay in the American zone. At any rate, that is the impression Murray got from Hildring.

But Golden declined. When he was asked by Clay to go to Germany, he replied that he was convinced the army would run the whole show in its own way and that he felt it was futile to go in the role of adviser.

Now, nowhere, the CIO is to nominate its own men to go to its zone in Germany. Keenan has been in Europe since February. According to reports here, he wants to return to America, where a top AFL job—possibly as successor to ailing John P. Frey of the Machinists Union—awaits him. But he has been prevailed upon by Clay to stay on.

—WEAR ARMY UNIFORMS—

With Keenan are two other Laborites, Newman Jeffrey, formerly with the United Auto Workers when Homer Martin was head of that union, and James G. McDonald, out of the AFL. These men have a curious anomalous position. They are on the payroll of the foreign economic administration, and yet they are assimilated to the army. They wear uniforms without insignia.

At least one other labor specialist on the FEAC payroll is going to Germany. This is David G. Saposs, former chief economist of the National Labor Relations Board and labor chief economic adviser to the labor production division of the War Production Board. Saposs, who speaks German, has a broad knowledge of world labor movements. Charged before a house committee in 1939 with holding revolutionary views, he was dropped from the labor board when the logs were put in a specific provision that no part of the board's appropriation was to go to pay his salary.

In the light of the general failure to fix any workable policy for Germany, all this may seem unimportant. Yet it is symptomatic. It is symptomatic, above all, of the lack of any agreement among ourselves on a policy for Europe.

Back of this, it seems to me, is the lack of a general understanding of what our national interest in Europe is. The divisions among us cut so many different ways. The AFL-CIO split is in itself symptomatic of the factionalism which divides us, just as it illustrates the difficulties of working out policy—if we had a policy—in Germany.

These differences were obscured by the war. As is becoming increasingly evident, with final victory they cannot be ignored.

Gracie Allen Says—

I realized the travel situation was getting a little tight, but I didn't really know how bad it was until I saw that Governor Wallgren of Washington has placed an Indian war canoe at President Truman's disposal during his visit to that state. If the President rates only a canoe, you can imagine where the rest of us stand.

Anyway, the Indians will be pleased. They haven't had so much attention since the days when Calvin Coolidge used to wear big feathered headgear for the newsreels.

President Truman says he's going to fish a little for relaxation. Now, don't kid us, Mr. President—you're going after those fish in presently earnest, same as the rest of us. I just bet the White House cook would try to bring back some food, or she wouldn't be responsible for meals in the future.

The WPB has asked workers in industries having rush production schedules to stay on the job July 4 and postpone vacations until after Labor Day. In other words, make July 4 the real labor day.

Variety Is the Spice of Life---and Conferences

AFTER A STEADY DIET OF THIS—

OH, WHAT A RELIEF!

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler

SHORT OF FOOD—This, the first in a series of columns on early days at Flat Rock on the Escanaba river in Delta county, is from a manuscript prepared by Mrs. George Jensen of Escanaba. The story of pioneer days in the county continues as follows:

"In the winter of 1858 some of the lumber camps ran out of food and William Holmes was sent down on foot to the settlement to bring back supplies. Taking an ox team and several men to help, he went to the camp over the winter supply road.

"In the early 1860's the people were still talking about this remarkable feat that had been accomplished.

"An itinerant photographer named Clark came to Flat Rock in 1859. He occupied a room in the old boarding house and took photographs of some of the residents, including the Lehman girls.

BUILDING BEE—In 1860 several families built new homes across the river on the west bank, among them the Zincks and the Leagues.

"At this time the Lehmans also moved up to new land on the river front to start a farm. This land, now known as the Jacob Groos farm, is located directly across the river from the Escanaba Paper company mill.

"Here Mr. Lehman cut and prepared logs for the new home. In a Sunday building bee with thirty to forty mill hands taking part the logs were rolled up in that one day. Mocks with which to chink the cracks between the logs was picked in the cedar swamp back of the house.

"Mrs. Lehman, with the help of her friend and neighbor, Mrs. Williams, prepared the outdoor noon-meal. Coffee was made over an open fire. This was served along with venison, baked beans, bread and cakes.

PIONEER HOME—"The first floor of the house had a large sitting room, a large kitchen and pantry, also two bedrooms. The upstairs part was in one room.

"In the home, for heating and cooking, both a stove and a fireplace were used. A home-made sheet iron oven was hung from the crane in the fireplace. This oven had to be turned to assure even baking.

"Knives and forks of steel were used and teakettles, frying pans and kettles were of iron. The home was lighted with candles, which were made of a mixture of deer and beef tallow. Mrs. Lehman had a twelve-candle mold and a ball of candlewick and made her own.

"Most families had their own candle molds, however, kerosene lamps soon came in and were sold to be cheaper. The first kerosene lamp had No. 1 burners and scarcely held a teaspoonful of oil, which was known as tallow. It was priced at 75 cents per gallon. One gallon lasted a family all winter.

"Some feather-filled bed covers were used. These were known as feather beds.

CIVIL WAR PRICES—"In 1859 the price of wheat flour was $9 per 200 pound barrel.

"During the Civil War in the 1860's, currency as well as consumer goods was scarce and wartime prices prevailed. The price of flour per 200 pounds rose to $15, tea also went up to $1.50 a pound. Coffee sold at 50 cents the pound, sometimes higher. This coffee was a combination of grains and chicory.

10 Years Ago—1935

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Raymond G. Jacques, pastor of St. Anne's church has received word that he will take over St. Mary's church at Sault Ste. Marie. He has been a leader in the community and has been at St. Anne's for almost twenty years. In his place will be Rev. Fr. Joseph Guertel who has been serving at Iron River.

Senator Vandenberg at a press conference called the settlement in Alaska an impractical idea which would end in utter failure. He said that the 2,000 settlers had been promised a fertile land and instead had found the ground to be muddy and dusty, infested with mosquitoes.

20 Years Ago—1925

Chamberlain reduced in Britain today for peace armaments. He pointed out that although the armistice had been signed six years before Europe was still divided into the same hates and intrigues as before.

An Italian representative will confer today with men in the U. S. Treasury regarding Italy's ability to pay her war debts. Italy feels that she will not be able to pay the debt unless easier terms are arranged.

The Munising baseball team defeated the Escanaba team, 5-2 in an exciting game. The Munising team forged ahead after a home-run in the fourth inning.

Waldo Kestler was presented with a past master's jewel at a meeting of the DeMolay. He is first past counselor of the Delta County DeMolay.

"The price of this imitation coffee being high, the people began to brew and grind their own coffee mixture made of barley, peas and rye grains, with a small piece of chicory added.

AND SCARCITIES—"Good things to eat like raisins, nuts, candy and oranges, which are usually associated with the holiday seasons, could not be had during these lean war years.

"Corn was ground into meal at the water mill, though not as finely ground as today.

"The price of pork went up to $25 and $30 per barrel. Corned pork sold in slabs and locally grown pork in large portions.

"Up to this time no local butter was made and not much was used. A spread for bread was made of melted lard and other fats, flavored with spices and onions.

"All groceries came in wood containers, lard in tubs, flour in barrels, butter was shipped in firkins—the latter sometimes so strong it could hardly be used.

"Enough potatoes to supply the settlement were grown locally. "A spool of thread was priced at 25 cents, calico at 50 cents the yard, and cotton sheeting at 90 cents per yard.

"Orders for merchandise were taken by Captains Leslie and Hutchinson and were brought up from Chicago.

"Chunks of venison were placed in brine, hung up to dry and lightly smoked. This was known as jerked or dried venison and could be bought from the Indians. The residents also preserved meat in this manner.

COWS AND CHICKENS—"In 1860 Flat Rock's two first milk cows arrived on the Tempest. One was purchased by the McMonagle family and the second, a brindle cow, by the Lehmans.

"Visiting Indians brought the Lehmans gifts of beaver meat. They, however, did not relish this kind of wild meat so it was cooked over an outdoor fire and fed to the chickens, which made the hens prolific layers."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Tall, stately Senator Jim Murray of Montana is 69 years old, but during a closed-door session of his small business committee he nearly got into a fist-fight with 54-year-old Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana. Fortunately for both, Senator Tom Stewart of Tennessee jumped up and spoiled the bout. Senatorial dignity was saved.

It all happened when the Senate small business committee held its first closed session this year. Hitherto, the committee's work has been done in a open sub-committees which have stepped on the toes of several big business groups and battered hard for little business.

Some senators haven't liked this. Also, they haven't liked the fact that Chairman Jim Murray delegated the committee's work to its counsel, Dewey Anderson. Most committee members, busy with other committee assignments, have been content to let Anderson have free rein—with the exception of Ellender of Louisiana and Admiral Tommy Hart. Hart, the new Republican senator from Connecticut, had never attended a full committee meeting.

Finally, after pressure from Ellender and Hart, Senator Murray called one. Immediately the sparks began to fly. Ellender began interrupting the Chairman, and the Chairman asked that there be no more interruptions until he finished making announcements.

"But you don't know what's going on in this committee," burst out Ellender. "Why, you've got a wild man here running things for you!"

He referred to committee counsel Dewey Anderson, former California legislator who hopes to run for the U. S. Senate next year. Anderson and Ellender have never liked each other.

"If the Democrats run Anderson for office next year, they'll be giving the Republicans a chance to save campaign expenses," continued the gentleman from Louisiana.

—FIGHTING NAMES—

Murray ignored the outburst, but Ellender, one of the better Louisiana politicians, elevated to the Senate by his old friend Huey Long, kept grumbling, finally, when he made some inaudible comment under his breath, Murray called him a liar.

Ellender retorted with a more descriptive name and then started to jump on Murray. Senator Stewart of Tennessee finally pulled him back into his seat.

Ellender continued his complaints, without benefit of fist-waving. He complained about a lot of things Anderson had done, including a newsletter to businessmen Anderson started to publish twice a month. Ellender had refused to approve this publication, although Murray okayed it via long-distance telephone and, according to Anderson, a majority of the committee later gave their okay.

"That is the sort of thing the committee should decide upon only after discussion," Ellender insisted.

He and Senator Wherry also complained about the size of the committee staff and the fact that some staff members were borrowed from agencies of the executive department—a common practice in the Senate.

"This man Anderson won't even tell me who the staff members are," stormed Ellender. "I've been after a list of them for three weeks, but he keeps pushing me off."

In the end, the committee overruled Ellender on the method of holding sub-committee hearings. It also supported Chairman Murray in borrowing personnel from government agencies. In fact, Murray won out all around. And as the meeting ended, he and Ellender even shook hands.

—IS MACARTHUR HOSPITABLE?—

Handsome Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland got slightly exercised on the Senate floor this week about this column's speculation as to why he left Manila after five days, when he had expected to remain five weeks.

Actually, the Senator should not have been too upset over the implication that General MacArthur didn't want him wandering around the Philippines investigating things. Because just as good men as Millard (some say even better) have been barred from Luzon by MacArthur.

They include: Four generals, all treasury department officials, and all officers working for Gen. William Donovan's office of Strategic Services.

The treasury department had to protest to the White House direct before MacArthur would permit its officials to enter the Philippines. They have finally been admitted.

But the Surgeon General of the army, Maj. Gen. Norman Kirk, never did get in to Luzon; nor did Lieut. Gen. Edmund Gregory, the quartermaster general of the army; nor Brig. Gen. James Simmons, of the surgeon general's office; nor Brig. Gen. John F. Davis, of the supply forces. MacArthur barred them all.

When General Kirk got MacArthur's message in Leyte that he was not to proceed on to Manila, the surgeon general could scarcely believe his eyes. He had important hospitals to visit in several parts of Luzon. So he sent MacArthur another telegram which said: "Don't understand your message. Do you mean by your telegram number so-and-so that my assistance is not welcome?"

To this, MacArthur replied: "No; repeat, no."

Secretary of War Stimson then took the unusual step of sending MacArthur an official inquiry as to why he barred the surgeon general of the army from Luzon. MacArthur sent back the rather lame explanation that he had not understood the nature of General Kirk's mission.

In view of all this, anyone discouraged from remaining in Manila should not feel too upset about it—not even a senator.

ADD-A-ROOM HOMES
To Make Postwar Entertaining Easy
By RUTH MILLETT
Mrs. America is probably tickled pink to hear that the prefabricated houses of the post-war world can be added on to a room at a time, in much the same manner that a bride adds pieces of sterling to what she was able to rake in for wedding gifts.

That is sure to appeal to women for they usually have better luck talking their husbands into spending a little money over a long period of time than in talking them into plunking down a big sum all at once.

Look how women worked the installment racket to fill their houses with all sorts of electrical gadgets and fancy furniture.

George just couldn't hold out against his wife's argument that little monthly payments wouldn't even be missed.

And women will work the house racket the same way. They'll sell George on the idea of a four or five room house, and poor George will think blissfully that that will end the housing problem.

And then there will always be a reason why they need just one more room.

Little By Little
Mother's coming for the winter. Or Susie and Jane aren't happy sharing a room. Or an old school mate is coming to visit, and the house is so much smaller, than hers the little woman is ashamed to have to ask her friend to sleep on the studio coach in the living room.

So bit by bit, Mama will add on to the house—and a man will never know where it is going to end. But he'll be stuck. He could put his foot down on a deal like trading a five room house in on a ten room one. But he'll never hold the line when Mama has a chance to add on to the five rooms one room at a time.

That's a system women know how to work for all it worth.

SPUD SHORTAGE REMAINS ACUTE

Few Potatoes Will Be Available For Next Month

For the first time in years, Escanaba housewives are faced with a shortage of potatoes and there is small prospect for any relief in the situation for at least another month.

The huge Delta county potato crop of 1944 is entirely exhausted, except for a few bushels still remaining on some farms. Warehouses have been empty for six weeks and the imports of new potatoes are scarce indeed. The Northwest Fruit company reported yesterday that it has been entirely out of potatoes for the past week, and although additional carloads are expected to arrive at intervals, the supply will be wholly inadequate to meet the demand.

Most Delta county stores have been rationing meager stocks on the basis of five pounds per customer and even then, a large percentage of customers received none at all.

The transportation problem is only a minor factor in the current potato shortage, wholesalers reported. The federal government has been buying heavily in the potato market, and there just are not enough potatoes reaching the civilian market to meet the requirements.

The black market has been blamed for potato shortages in other areas and if the illegal sales are widespread in other potato producing areas, this factor would cause shortages in this area, now that the local crop has been exhausted. There has been little indication that the black market has been very extensive in the local area, however, as the 1944 crop became exhausted before the shortage at the markets developed.

Harland L. Christiansen, Route 1, Stonington, and Francis J. Lundquist, Grand Marais, were among the 189 former enlisted men, members of the 10th class of the Infantry Officer Candidate school in the European Theater of Operations, who recently received commissions as second lieutenants. Under the direction of Col. Harold E. Rogers of New York, commander of the Ground Force Training Center, the men completed an intensive training course to fit them as infantry platoon leaders.

Pfc. Robert D. LaForest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Octave LaForest of Gladstone Route 1, was recently awarded the combat infantryman's badge after seeing much action in the European war theater.

In a letter written to his parents from Emmas, Austria, Pfc. LaForest said in part: "I had ice cream for the first time today. It sure was a treat. I'm going to tell you something that I never said before because they wouldn't let us write about it. The first day I went into action I was behind my sergeant when he stepped on a mine and got blown in half; another guy was killed, and another got stones in his eyes. I felt blown in the air about five feet and fell on my neck. It felt like it was broken but it was just out of place. I was laying by a fence, and the fence and cement post were all blown up. I guess someone was praying for me. There are a lot of boys who never prayed or went to church, but they surely prayed when the Jerries fired at us."

Pfc. LaForest is 19 years old.

Coxswain Paul Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Thompson of Cornell arrived home Thursday on a 30-day leave. Three Companies Are Now Producing New Water Match

New York (P)—Three American companies independently have produced water resistant matches for Allied fighting men.

An earlier Associated Press story, based on an announcement by the Diamond Match Company, did not carry the names of the other two companies: the Universal Match Corporation and the Ohio Match Company.

All three formulate for making matches that will light even after lying in water for about eight hours have been secret and it is not known whether they are different or whether each company hit upon the same method. The trick is done with a shiny coating over the head and nearby parts of the match end.

Purists say that a match which will light after not longer than eight hours in water cannot properly be called "waterproof." The first story of these matches used the word "waterproof." However, the advertising of the companies calls the matches merely "water-resistant."

The matches were produced by all three companies in response to a request from the Quartermaster for something for use in the Pacific theater that would stand wetting better than the resistant matches previously available.

PATENT OFFICE AIDS BUSINESS

Will Publish Register Of Patents Offered For License

BY DR. FRANK THONE

Science Service Staff Writer Washington—A new service to American inventors and businessmen is being offered by the U. S. Patent Office. Beginning this week, a register of patents available for licensing or sale will be published in the weekly Official Gazette of the Patent Office, to help establish contact between manufacturers looking for good and profitable articles to make and inventors or owners of unexpired patents on such gadgets. This service is expected to be especially useful to small manufacturers.

Procedure will be of the simplest. Formalities are wiped out altogether. There are no blanks to fill out, no questionnaires to answer. All the patent owner needs to do is write an ordinary letter to the Patent Office, giving the number of the patent he owns and stating that he is willing to license or sell same on reasonable terms. If he doesn't happen to have a copy of his patent on hand, he can attach an order for a copy, enclosing a dime to pay for it.

If he cares to state definitely the terms on which he will license or sell, they will be included in the statement in the Register; otherwise the "reasonable terms" clause will leave him free to drive his own bargain with the licensee, either directly or through an attorney or other agent.

Likewise free of formalities are the brief abstracts prepared in the Patent Office as guides to possible licensees. The interminable, and often unintelligible, technical jargon in which patent attorneys usually couch patent claims is all tossed overboard, and the essential nature of the device offered is set forth in a score or so of words in plainest English. A sample: "Book-type toilet kit or the like with clamp inside so arranged that clamp acts as support when case is open and in use."

Railroads Oppose Au Train Canal

Ishpeming—The iron ore industry will be represented by an obituary at the hearing in Marquette Thursday, June 23, on a proposal to cut a canal through the Upper Peninsula from Au Train to Bay de Noc, but no statement for the industry will be made. From informed sources, however, it has become evident the industry regards the canal an unwarranted project.

The railways, however, will be represented, probably at hearings in Escanaba and Marquette. The railways serving this territory, the Duluth Superior and Ishpeming, the Duluth South Shore and Atlantic and the Chicago and North Western, are known to be opposed and prepared to submit arguments against the proposal.

There is strong opinion, among many of the industrial figures concerned, that no need has been shown for a Mid-Peninsula waterway and that the district and national interests are being adequately served by present transportation routes.

Eggs Preserved In Water Glass

Ithaca, N. Y.—Eggs are scarce, and are expected to become scarcer. Persons who own chickens, or have any other means of acquiring surplus eggs, and who intend putting them up in water-glass, a time-honored method of preserving eggs, are advised not to depend on this method alone, but to keep them well refrigerated as well. Prof. G. O. Hall of Cornell University, who has just concluded a series of experiments in this field.

Eggs of uniform quality were placed in water glass and held for six months. One lot was kept at temperatures of 34 to 36 degrees Fahrenheit, another at 55 to 58 degrees and a third at ordinary room temperature.

The eggs held at 34 to 36 degrees retained fresh eggs in all respects except flavor and odor. Of 189 eggs candled, 178 were of A grade quality or better. Appearance of these eggs on breaking the shells was satisfactory.

YOUR 7th WAR LOAN QUOTA

They're both tough...

but which would you rather tackle?

IN THE 7th War Loan, you are being asked for more than ever before.

Much more. More, perhaps, than you feel you can afford.

True enough. But—as we face the toughest part of the toughest job in our history—fighting Americans, too, are being asked for more than ever before.

For more lives. For more legs and arms and eyes...

And they are giving more than ever—with unsurpassed courage and devotion.

Your job is easier. It's easier to face your quota than to face cold steel, blindness, pain and death... infinitely easier!

Easier still when you remember that War Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 you invest at maturity—and that War Bonds are the safest investment in the world.

But don't make the mistake of thinking your easier job isn't important.

It is. For your quota is your share of the minimum amount Uncle Sam must have in this drive! That amount can be reached only if every American does his part.

As the war approaches its climax, more is demanded of all of us... much more. Don't let down on your job!

FIND YOUR QUOTA... AND MAKE IT!

IF YOUR AVERAGE WEEKLY WAGE PER MONTH IS:	YOUR PERSONAL WAR BOND QUOTA IS: (CASH VALUE)	MATURITY VALUE OF 7TH WAR LOAN BONDS BOUGHT

Medal of Valor

Mrs. Dorothy Stanley, widow of the late Pfc. Miles O. Stanley, was honored by the Elks lodge of Gary, Ind., at ceremonies which took place in that city Sunday.

Private Stanley, who was a member of the Elks lodge at Gary, was killed in action at Cassino, Italy, in February, 1944, and his medal of honor, awarded by the lodge, was presented to the widow, at impressive Flag Day services sponsored by the lodge.

Presentation of the medal was made by Walter Pickart, the lodge's exalted ruler.

Expect Arrest Soon
Of Forging Couple

The arrest is expected soon of two men who stopped at a local tourist camp and later a local hotel the early part of the week who are being sought as passers of two forged checks in the city and the attempted passage of another.

They had signed the name of Frank Hartman, local woods contractor to the checks and managed to cash one at the Sidal drug store and another at the Harry English pool hall. An attempt to cash a third check at the William Heinz grocery failed.

Operations of a similar nature by two men answering the descriptions of the wanted men, have since been reported in St. Ignace, late police report.

Free Methodists
To Burn Mortgage
Sunday Morning

Sunday will be an important date in the history of the Free Methodist church at the corner of Deer and Second street as services will be held in celebration of the fact that the church is free from all debts.

At the morning services, which begin at 11 o'clock, the mortgage on the property will be burned and the new pews will be dedicated. The Rev. G. W. Bodine, district superintendent, will preach the sermon. The Rev. Ben Wyma is the congregation's pastor.

The burning of the mortgage will have the added significance that the entire Sault Ste. Marie Free Methodist church district, which comprises all churches of this denomination in the Upper Peninsula, are debt free. The local debt was on the church parsonage.

DAIRY MONTH MEANS MORE THIS YEAR—

This is dairy month. It has been designated as such by the dairy industry to popularize the use of milk as a beverage. It should be a significant month in the lives of many people because heretofore too many people have had the notion that milk was "children's food." Lack of so many other kinds of foods at this time will lead many an adult to take to drinking milk. And you can bank on this—most of them will stick to milk. Order that extra quart today.

Sergeant Johnson
Of Seney Honored

Sgt. Allen J. Johnson, son of
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smithson of Seney, who has been serving with the 10th Mountain division in Italy, was cited on May 11 for meritorious service in combat near
Mt. Pierotte, Italy.

To complete operational plans for a large scale attack, Sergeant Johnson was assigned a mission to determine possible routes for attack and supply. Making his way over very mountainous terrain, he was subjected to severe sniper fire which made movement most hazardous, but knowing the vital importance of his assignment he continued onward, cautiously making his way to his destination and obtaining the essential information.

To return to his unit, Sergeant
Johnson once again had to brave the sniper fire and additional hazards of mortar fire which further increased the danger of his mission. Using his sound knowledge of tactics and by his splendid courage and determination to complete his work at any cost, he reached his unit and delivered the data that was so important in future operations.

Sergeant Johnson entered military service from Manistique. His wife and two children reside in Pontiac.

In Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our dear son and brother, Leonard D.
Groun, who passed away one year ago today, June 23, 1944.

One year of silent sorrow.
One year of grief and pain.
Our hearts are sad and lonely,
Since you went away.
You left us so very quickly,
And called, and you had to go.
You could not even say good-bye.
And dear, we miss you so.
We often sit and think of you,
And talk of how you died.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile.
We miss you here.
We miss you there.
Your loving smile, your loving face.
And when we sit and think of you,
For all of us you did your best,
God grant you eternal rest.

Sadly missed by his parents, sisters and brothers.

AND FAMILY.

SUMMER MAKES ARRIVAL HERE

Beach Popularity Grows As Warmer Weather Appears

Summer, which many discouraged local residents believed would never arrive, made its official appearance in Escanaba Thursday morning at 8:03 o'clock, bringing with it the finest weather of the year.

The arrival of summer marked the end of the worst spring season experienced here in many years. Oldtimers say that spring, 1945, was the worst in their memory. Dismal and cold weather of April and May blotted all hopes for the bright season that was presaged by an unusually warm month of March.

The popularity of the beach and other "old swimming holes" has been evidenced this week by increasingly large numbers of bathers who are having a grand time, even if the temperature of the air and water still leaves something to be desired for ideal swimming conditions.

Delta county crops are developing satisfactorily with the arrival of warm weather, after a belated start caused by late freezes and heavy rainfall in some areas.

Hot in the east and southeast, cool and even cold in the west and northwest, sums up the weather for the past seven days, according to field reports reaching U. S. Weather Bureau headquarters at Washington. It was also hot in the inland valleys of California.

Despite continuation of generally unfavorable weather in the principal grain-raising regions, the winter wheat crop continues to develop, and has reached harvest ripeness as far north as southern Kansas and Missouri. Reports on corn are not so favorable. Planting is late in many places, with fields still too wet to work; extensive replanting will be necessary elsewhere. What has come up is not growing as rapidly as it should.

Cotton is doing fairly well east of the Mississippi. In the western and northwestern parts of the cotton belt, however, conditions are not so good; in parts of Texas it has been too dry, while in Arkansas and Oklahoma cotton fields have suffered from too much rain.

Water In Tractor Tires Proves Big Help to Farmers

The use of liquid in tractor tires and other farm implement wheels, instead of air, has created marked increase in efficiency of farm vehicles, Clarence E. Neuman, of Milwaukee, district farm tire representative of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, told tractor and tire dealers of Delta, Alcona and Dickinson counties at a meeting Thursday night at the Ludington hotel.

Tests conducted during the past four years on tractors operated 3,672 hours in all types of farm operations showed no loss of tire pressure during the entire four years of operation and created 22 per cent more efficiency with the tractors, Neuman said. To each two pounds of weight added to a tractor tire, agricultural experts have found that one additional pound of drawbar pull is obtained, the dealers were told.

The use of liquid to inflate tires is made possible by a special pump which first draws all of the air from the tubes, creating a vacuum. Then the pump refills the tubes with a water and calcium chloride solution. One of the pumps was demonstrated at the meeting. A total of 1372 pounds of weight can be added to an average size tractor by the use of liquid in the front and rear tires.

It also was revealed at the meeting that effective July 1 a farmer desiring to convert any farm vehicle from steel wheels to rubber tires will not be required to apply to the county AAA committee for approval, but all such applications in the future will be made to the local OPA boards.

Expect Big Increase In Delta's Equalized Value

To provide additional county tax revenue so that Delta county's government can operate without a still greater increase in the already large deficit, it is expected the county board of supervisors will on Monday equalize valuations upward by three or even four million dollars.

The equalized valuation established by the county board last year for the county was $17,474,716. The state tax commission has equalized the county's value at $22,500,000. Some members of the county board have indicated that it may be necessary to put the valuation figure up to the state's total if the county is to have sufficient revenue to operate in the coming year without sacrificing any of the present services.

Principal reason for increasing the equalized valuation, so far as

SCOUT CAMP TO OPEN TOMORROW

About 300 Boy Scouts Will Attend During 5-Week Season

Camp Red Buck on Red Jack lake located 25 miles north of Nahma Junction tomorrow afternoon will receive its first week's contingent of Boy Scouts from Red Buck district, marking the start of a five-week camp period. During the five weeks about 304 Scouts and Scouters will participate in the camping program.

Clarence Zerbel of Escanaba will be camp director. Wallace Cameron of Gladstone will be in charge of waterfront activities, S. N. Bradford, district Scout executive will be in charge of records and advancement, and Lawrence Hammond of Marquette has been employed as camp cook.

The junior staff officers are Richard Ouellette of Munising, Robert Linden of Escanaba, Melvin Larson and Bill Lehman of Gladstone.

About 60 Scouts and camp staff members will be enrolled this week. The first week activities will end next Saturday afternoon, and then the camp will be prepared to receive the next group the following afternoon.

The Scouts will participate in activities designed to assist them in advancement. There will be daily swimming instruction, and hikes, woodcraft and other Scout programs. One day of the week the Scouts will participate in an "outdoor adventure" in which they will live and eat outdoors.

Plans are being made to set Friday nights to hold court of honor, when the Scouts will be presented with their advancement awards.

In preparation for the camp the boats have been repainted, and a canteen building that collapsed last winter from the weight of snow on the roof has been torn down and the materials used to construct a cook's quarters and storage building. This work was done by volunteer Scouts and Scouters, mostly from Nahma, assisted by others from Munising, Escanaba, Manistique and Gladstone.

All Scout camps in the Hiawathaland Council, comprising the Upper Peninsula, have shown an increased enrollment over last year, it was reported at a meeting of the executive board of the Council held yesterday at Sault Ste. Marie. The Camp enrollment is up 36 per cent, it was reported.

Attending the Council meeting at the Soo from the Red Buck district were Carl Nelson, Fred Hahne and Bradford. Nelson presented the commissioner's report, Hahne the treasurer's report.

A trust fund for the Council administrative staff was approved by a vote of the executive committee.

GET FULL ENJOYMENT FROM YOUR LOCKER

Freezing is one of the simplest and easiest methods of preserving foods in their natural "Fresh" state for future use, retaining practically all the fresh flavor, vitamin content and food value. There are, however, a few important points worth remembering to insure your locker success:

1. Be sure foods put into your locker are of GOOD QUALITY. Freezing will not make good food out of bad.
2. Follow LOCKER LOGIC'S simple instructions for selecting, handling and packaging.
3. Speed in handling, from garden to locker is most important in freezing vegetables and fruits.
4. Protect food by moisture-proof wrapping or packaging to PREVENT DRYING OUT.
5. Pack foods for freezing in units sufficient for a single meal. Thawed foods should not be re-frozen.
6. Label all packages with date and contents.
7. Properly prepared and stored at zero degree Fahrenheit, most foods will keep approximately one year. Certain products such as pork, butter and lard should be used within less time.
8. Do not overcook fresh frozen vegetables. Remember they have been partly cooked in the blanching process.
